

Below is a graph of student homework averages on the horizontal axis, and the corresponding final course average on the vertical axis. If you receive an A or B average on the homework and are doing the homework on your own, chances are good that you'll receive an A or B in the class.

